

Four pond areas have been created at Brook Country Park. The areas were excavated during Autumn 2010 in naturally wet areas of the park. The ponds may dry out during the summer months but will naturally re-fill with water again in the autumn.

The ponds have been left to populate naturally with plants and wildlife. It is hoped that common pond wildlife such as newts, frogs, dragonflies, diving beetles, pond skaters and many more will be attracted to the areas.
